PLATERS' DAY AT LAUREL

HEAVY GOING KEEPS THE BETTER HORSES IN THEIR STALLS, BUT RACING IS GOOD.

Golden List Accounts For the Main Race of the Afternoon and Outstays Sky Pilot—All Smiles and Royal Meteor Score in Their Races.

Laurel, Md., October 6.—The closest thing to a feature race here this afternoon was an overnight running handicap for two-year-olds at five and a half furlongs. H. G. Bedwell's speedy filly Golden List was the one to show the way home to a fair band. Sky Pilot was the runner-up while Greetings got up in the last few strides to finish third. The winner was sent to the front with a rush and showed a high flight of speed in the going, although she was tiring at the end. Sky Pilot was always closest in pursuit and, after saving ground on the turns, finished in a resolute manner.

The going at the Laurel course this afternoon was deep and holding and a mediocre class of horses contested the races, which were all of the selling variety. The public had a fairly good line on the merits of the different starters and speculation was brisk through the afternoon. Despite the threatening weather conditions that prevailed before the first race, a good-sized crowd journeyed to the course from Washington and Baltimore.

The improving All Smiles scored another victory, when he disposed of a band of platers at one mile and a sixteenth. He was much the best, and won with speed in reserve.

Old Royal Meteor accounted for the third race, in which he staggered home a scant length in advance of Menlo Park.

Dr. J. W. Messervey, who raced a small but select string at the metropolitan tracks this year, was an arrival from Charleston, S. C., this morning and will remain for an extended visit.

H. G. Bedwell, who claimed Iroquois from John Sanford on the opening day of the meeting, has sold her back to Mr. Sanford for $2,000.

Judge Ed Cole arrived from Canada today to assume his duties in the stand.

W. L. Oliver's Abbotsford was badly cut down in his last race and will be on the shelf for a time.

Jockey McCay made his first appearance in the saddle today since his fall from R. T. Wilson's mount in the running of the Chesterbrook Handicap at Havre de Grace.

Frang Regan will go into winter quarters at Gravesend with the Cleveland Stable string. He had intended racing a part of the string through the cold months, but changed his mind.

The stable of F. J. Jones will probably be the first to arrive at New Orleans.

It will ship towards the last of this month from Memphis.

Thomas Shaw left for New York today. He will attend the meeting of the Piping Rock Racing Association at Locust Valley Saturday.

C. R. Ellison has returned to Kentucky.

Several horsemen will leave here Friday for Locust Valley. Among those who will make the trip are G. R. Tompkins, L. A. Cassidy, Henry J. Morris, Silas Veitch and James McLaughlin, Jr.

GENERAL NEWS NOTES OF THE DAY.

All South Chicago has prepared to do honor to Sheldon Lacey, the seventeen-year-old boy who gave up his life to save his companions, and also to Peter Monellochi, who died with young Lacey after he had tried to save the boy hero. It is probable a double funeral will be held, and hundreds of fellow workers planned to follow the bodies to the graves. Maritime police and coroner joined hands in an effort to establish responsibility for the blowing off of a valve attached to a waste gas pipe in the plant of the Illinois Steel Company which resulted in the death of two and nearly killed four others. Lacey, Monellochi and a score or more other men were all in the washer-room when the valve blew out. Instantly, and with great presence of mind, Lacey leaped forward, at the same time shouting to his companions to escape. That they might escape, he struggled to replace the valve, and finally sank unconscious to the floor. Monellochi, who at the first warning had dropped to the floor, attempted to drag the boy to safety, but he, too, was overcome. Four others were made unconscious before they reached the open air and were treated at the company's hospital. Later two of them were well enough to be taken to their homes. All four, the doctors said, probably would recover.

A dispatch from London of yesterday says: "The Greek premier, Eleutherios Venizelos, handed his resignation to King Constantine last evening, says a late dispatch from Athens. The king summoned M. Venizelos yesterday afternoon and informed him that he could not support the policy which had permitted the landing of entente troops at Saloniki. As the situation is outlined by the political commentators tonight King Constantine has absolutely rejected the diplomacy of his premier, whose party was returned to power last spring on a platform which openly advocated a moral if not an active support of the entente powers. Furthermore, the policy of the premier which has brought forth the king's disavowal was based on the platform which resulted in his resumption of office. It would appear from the scanty news so far at hand that King Constantine, although a sympathizer with the German cause, has determined to stake everything on the support of that cause and to prevent Greece from aligning itself with the allies even at the risk of losing his throne."

Reports from various sources place the allied force landed at Saloniki at 150,000 men. The army is said to be generally equipped with heavy artillery and equipment for a long and arduous campaign in the field. Dispatches from Nish say that the advance guard of this force is expected in Serbia today. France notified Greece on the arrival of the first detachment of French troops at Saloniki that they were going to help Serbia. Premier Venizelos replied protesting against the passage of foreign troops through Greek territory on the ground that it violated Greek neutrality. The allied government made preparations and gave the necessary orders for the landing of the troops several days ago. Previously they had entered into negotiations with the Greek government, which being still neutral made formal protest, as it was obliged to do. At the same time the French officers were given every freedom to prepare for the landing.

Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, on Tuesday formally disavowed the act of the submarine commander in sinking the Arabic and offered a money indemnity for the two American lives lost. President Wilson accepted the offer as a satisfactory settlement of the dispute with Germany on this particular phase of the submarine controversy. He believes that Germany will respect the rights of Americans in the submarine war zone. The president now will endeavor to procure a satisfactory settlement of the Lusitania case, involving the loss of 115 American lives.

A dispatch of yesterday from Rome said: "It is said on good authority here that Emperor Franz Josef of Austria is dangerously ill and that the Austrian crown prince is heir to the throne it is said that to the heir to the throne it is said that Baron von Burian, the Austria-Hungarian foreign minister, and Count Tisza, the Hungarian premier, also have been called to the capital. The news, it is stated, has been kept secret up to this time for fear of the influence it might have upon the international situation."

Constantin Theodor Dumba, Austro-Hungarian ambassador, recalled by his government at the request of the United States for attempting to interfere with local affairs, left this country Tuesday on

HAMBURG'S CAREER IN THE STUD AND HIS SIGNAL SUCCESS AS A SIRE OF BROODMARES OF NOTE

BY DR. M. M. LEACH

The news of the passing of Hamburg came more or less as a shock to me. It seems only such a short while ago, since the horse won the Brighton Cup and was retired by his owner, the late Marcus Daly, to his Bitter Root farm in Montana.

Hamburg, however, was not destined to have any protracted stay in his new-found home, Mr. Daly's death necessitating a dispersal of the Bitter Root Stud early in the year 1901. Hamburg was, of course, acquired by the Hon. W. C. Whitney and brought to Kentucky to stand for service at the La Belle Stud and it was when located at La Belle that Hamburg scored his greatest success as a sire. Only the other day, realizing the rapidity of advancing years, I was writing something in an endeavor to induce Mr. Whitney to permit Hamburg to make one more season in the Blue Grass before the inevitable end, and now it is too late.

Hamburg's Montana efforts were crowned with success, for it was at Bitter Root that he got Hamburg Belle, a winner of the Futurity, and Biturica, subsequently the dam of Vell and Maskurita, a Futurity winner and a winner of $81,115 in first moneys alone in her two-year-old days.

Leomina, Mimosa, Golden Drop, Unterrock, Velos and Inflexible were also got in Montana. However, Hamburg's success as a stallion, when standing for service at La Belle, was far ahead of any other period of his stud career. Artful, the heroine of the Futurity of 1904, was a product of Hamburg's first season in Kentucky, as were Dandeline, a tried campaigner and winner of $24,030 in 1906; $12,510 in 1907 and $7,670 in 1908; Rose of Dawn, Dreamer, Princess Rupert and that good though ill-starred filly Bumble Bee.

The following year Hamburg sired Juggler, another tried and true campaigner, and that grand race horse Burgomaster. The following year was, according to the Whitney plan, a light one for Hamburg, but in 1904 he got Jersey Lightning, Baby Wolf, winner of $11,935 as a three-year-old, and $5,180 a year later. Frizette, a high-class two-year-old, was also begotten this year, as was Adriana, now the dam of Coquette and Celiadam, both good winners this year.

Then came the Whitney dispersal sale, held on the evenings of October 10-11, 1904, under the auspices of the Fasig-Tipton Co. at Madison Square Garden. Well I remember the sale. A thoroughly representative gathering of owners, breeders, trainers and racing enthusiasts generally, flanked by a large concourse of others out to see the show, greeted the prince of auctioneers, William Easton, when he opened proceedings by offering for sale the illustrious subject of this notice.

Hamburg, what of him? A magnificent type of a thoroughbred horse, a brown, having two white stripes behind, a broad white strip running down his handsome, intelligent face, a commanding appearance, full muscled and of great power, whose racing record and stud services produced the younger Mr. Whitney to bid $70,000 for him. Cheap enough as were they then if only his new owner had elected to purchase the horse to Kentucky. As I predicted at the time, Hamburg's New Jersey stud record does not by any means come up to his Kentucky efforts. Hamburg's name, now for some years past, has not been heralded as that of the champion sire. Borrow, winner of the Middle Park Plate at Newmarket, defeating such flyers as Seaforth and Pietri, is about the best of Hamburg's New Jersey offspring, and Borrow is not done with yet, having run up a winning score of over $20,000 this year. Mr. Whitney was particularly happy in some of his other purchases at the great sale, securing among others, Daisy F., when carrying Jersey Lightning, a three-year-old, who, when carrying Jersey Lightning's 1915 winners, has taken two races worth $1,200. In all, the daughter of Hamburg has produced this year three winners of seven races whose value totals up $31,085, a record unapproached by any other mare.

Hamburg's success as a broodmare sire falls little short of that of his sire, Hanover. I made prediction to that effect at the time of the sale. Hamburg, of course, in tall male is a Herod and his board the Nieuw Amsterdam of the Holland-American Line, accompanied by Mrs. Dumba, a valet and a maid. He announced that he regretted greatly leaving the United States, where, he said, he had made many warm friends.

John Kipling of the Irish Guards, only son of Rudyard Kipling, is reported in the latest British casualty list as missing and believed to have been killed. Young Kipling was eighteen years old. On account of his delicate health his parents were reluctant to allow him to enter the army, but the boy insisted he should assume his share of the war and his father eventually yielded.

News has been received at Berlin that Captain Count Fritz von Koenigsmauer has been killed on the eastern front and that his brother, Count Walder, died Sunday as the result of injuries suffered when he made a bad landing in an aeroplane during the time he was taking a trial flight during a fog. The brothers were Germany's most noted gentlemen riders.

Secretary Daniels approved yesterday recommendations for increases in the rate of pay of forty classes of navy employees engaged in the manufacture of ordnance and ordnance material at the Washington navy yard, effective October 9. The action will increase the annual pay roll, approximately $136,000 a year.

British military authorities have recognized the importance of machine guns, which have been such a striking feature of German warfare, by the formation of a special machine gun corps with the king's sanction. Announcement of the step is made in the Official Gazette.

In celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of his arrival in this country, Jacob H. Schiff has given $500,000 to Barnard college, a constituent part of Columbia University, for the erection of a building to be known as Students' hall.

A dispatch from Rome says that the Germans have lent Bulgaria $12,500,000 for the families of resisters to allay the disaffection among the troops.

Bulgarian revenue cutters have pursued and fired on Greek sailing ships in the Aegean, according to news dispatches from Athens.

THE THOROUGHBRED GROWING IN FAVOR.

Directors of the National Horse Show at last have recognized the utility of the thoroughbred and in consequence there will be more opportunities at the coming show for horses registered by the Jockey Club than ever have been presented before at a show in Madison Square Garden. In the program for the Garden show from November 6 to 12 there are classes exclusively for thoroughbred saddle horses, thoroughbred hunters, thoroughbred polo ponies, etc., and all these classes will be judged on the same day, which will be designated as "Thoroughbred Day."

In late years there has been a vast widening of the sphere of the thoroughbred, which must form an important chapter in American horse history. In the early days of the horse show there were scarcely a dozen for him in the whole range of the classifications.

In those days the hunters were for the most part coarse horses showing little trace of racing blood. The saddle horses were chiefly grades or by-products of the trotter, the hackney and the gaited Kentucky saddle breed, while the polo ponies were far removed from the thoroughbred type. A blood horse in any of these classes would have been more likely to get the gold medal than the blue ribbon.

The high speed at which a twentieth century hunter must go to be in the first flight in following hounds has brought the thoroughbred horse and the three-quarter-bred horse to the front in this field. In polo there is the same story to be told. The little thirteen-hand colts of thirty years ago have given place to fifteen-hand horses that are often clean thoroughbreds with sufficient speed to play successfully in important games.

It is as a saddle horse, however, that the thoroughbred has made the greatest strides. So fashionable have the blood hounds become among members of the riding clubs and others that this year he has commanded recognition as a distinct type, and for the first time the National Horse Show Association has made separate classes for such horses all through the prize list for the coming exhibition at the Garden. Not all the horses shown in these classes will be clean thoroughbreds, as a matter of course, but the nearer they approach the thoroughbred type the better will be their chance of winning. The old-fashioned docked saddle horses of "harness" figure and snowy style and action are not to be eliminated or ignored as separate classes also have been provided for them.

Competitors in the same classes with horses of the opposite type, the thoroughbreds and half-breds have steadily made headway at the Garden show, until in the last few years their winnings have rivalled those of the old established walk-trot saddle horses that were alone in the field in the early years of the show. At the last show, for example, Mrs. F. Ambrose Clark's Supplement, by Tournaire—Sally Supple, won the novice class open to saddle horses of all breeds and types, beating among others, the champions of the Brooklyn and Long Branch shows. Proud Prince, registered thoroughbred by Nick—Lady Disdain, carried off the blue ribbon as the best lady's saddle horse, beating Nickel Plate, the champion of the year before at the Garden show.

Iron Trail, a thoroughbred now owned by John Sanford, one of the stewards of the Jockey Club, was reserve champion at this show. Heartspring, Indian Flower, Sir Evelyn, Scopite, Sweethearts and Saxon Queen are some of the many other thoroughbreds that have won over all comers at the big show in New York.

ED CRUMP'S DAY TO SHINE

SCHORR COLT COVERS CHURCHILL DOWNS TRACK IN FAST TIME AND WINS EASILY.

Luke Defeats Roscoe Goose with Ease—Huffaker Furnishes a Surprise in Beating Jack O'Dowd

—Pleasant Weather and a Fast Track.

Louisville, Ky., October 6.—John W. Schorr's good racer Ed Crump, running in his best form, accounted for today's mile allowance race at Churchill Downs in the fast time of 1:38%. His rider, E. Pool, was easing him to a canter during the last sixteen. Bronzewing was his closest attendant at the end, with Converse in third place. Converse kept Ed Crump close company to the lower turn, where the Schorr representative parted company with him and won with great ease.

For the fast time since the opening day, the track was fast, and this coincided with ideal weather, made the sports enjoyable for the big throng that journeyed to the Downs this afternoon. Speculation exceeded that of any day except last Saturday and, as the winners came from the ranks of those best supported, the speculators fared satisfactorily. The feature was a three-quarters handicap with Luke, Roscoe Goose, Gowell and Ed Howard as starters. It resulted in an easy victory for Senator Camden's Luke, which, setting a fast pace, led for the entire way and beat Roscoe Goose easily, with Gowell third and Ed Howard a distant trailer. The latter was bumping after the start and this undoubtedly accounted for his bad race.

The long-distance Huffaker furnished the surprise in the second race by beating Jack O'Dowd right at the end after the latter had raced into what appeared to be a winning lead. Jack O'Dowd was an outstanding favorite and his failure was the worst blow that the talent sustained during the afternoon.

Grosvenor, which has been frequent disappointment on Kentucky tracks this fall, made good in the opener when he beat eleven other platers in a closely fought struggle. Impressive accounted for the first purse that the Holland-Williams confederacy has pulled down in a long time when she scored in the fifth.

Departures today for Latonia included the horses of J. J. Marklein, J. C. Cahn, Lew Marion and R. J. Austin.

T. J. Harmon's string will be shipped to Latonia tomorrow. Most of the shipments will take place on Friday.

Trainer H. R. Brandt will only take nine of the Jefferson Livingston horses to Latonia to be raced.

George J. Long's racers will be taken by Pete Coyne to the Milldale track next Saturday.
